About Toorbunna

Toorbunna Lodge, Ben Lomond Alpine Village, Tasmania.

Toorbunna Ski Club, established more than 40 years ago, is a ski lodge located at Ben Lomond Village, a short walk from the second highest point in Tasmania. Membership is held through a share system, with a total of 80 shares. Members may hold more than one.

The Club's three major assets are its members, Toorbunna Lodge, and its relaxed atmosphere with minimal rules. The Lodge provides budget-class accommodation with bunk space for 52 across 4 separate rooms. In the rare event of overflow, there are 4 foldout settees and a few extra mattresses. Other facilities include two bathrooms (each with 2 showers, a toilet and 2 basins), plus a third toilet and basin near the entrance. The kitchen is well-equipped with gas stoves and a microwave. The Lodge runs a sophisticated solar and generator electric system, with gas for hot water and room heating, complemented by a wood burner for atmosphere.

Conditions on Ben Lomond can be harsh, but the Club has created a Lodge that provides efficient, warm accommodation with excellent drying-room and ski-storage facilities. Two living areas serve those who want to relive the day's skiing as well as those who prefer to relax with a book. Toorbunna sits in a premier location right next to the car park.

About Toorbunna

USING THE LODGE. Members can use the Lodge anytime, provided they are familiar with the opening and closing procedures and contribute to the Club's recurrent costs and Lodge upkeep.

Annual obligations

Annual subscription, per share, plus at least one summer working bee.	$190
Working bee levy, charged in addition to the annual subscription if the member does not attend either working bee for the financial year.	$195

Becoming a Member

1. Enquire with the club secretary as to current availability of shares by completing the form below or emailing the club secretary: secretary@toorbunna.org.au
2. Fill in a nomination application form and write a letter of introduction introducing yourself to the club members.
3. A current member needs to nominate you, and a second member seconds your nomination. If you do not know a club member, we can help line this up.
4. The members vote. This takes about three weeks.
5. Once you are voted in, you pay for your share and the joining fee. Once paid, you are then admitted as a member, and you are sent a key and membership details.

RESIGNATION. A Toorbunna Share is refundable on resignation once a replacement purchaser has paid.
